

Regina Chase

Senior Project Manager

Regina is the implementation lead for Ginnie Mae's new portal MyGinnieMae. She's overseen the portal effort from initial concept through the production release and numerous follow-on enhancements for functionality and enhanced security features. Bringing MyGinnieMae to fruition has been a multi-year effort with unique challenges to deliver modern technology with the necessity to integrate with legacy systems.

Regina joined Ginnie Mae in 2013 after 14 years with Freddie Mac where she began her career in the REO group in Single Family Servicing. After a series of increasingly responsible positions in Single Family, she moved to Customer Implementation services in the information technology (IT) area and began project management. She worked on several IT efforts associated with Freddie Mac's re-statement required by Sarbanes Oxley. She became part of the Project Management Center of Excellence and was assigned to several different IT efforts until in 2006 she left Freddie Mac to pursue other opportunities in Government Contracting for the Department of Defense and Veterans Administration.

Her experience at Freddie Mac in the early stage of her career provided the mortgage industry acumen to understand Ginnie Mae's business model and operations aspects. This coupled with the ability to grasp technology concepts and necessary system changes positioned her to lead the MyGinnieMae effort. Regina's career spanned several industries which presented opportunities to expand her project management skills and increase her exposure to technology development and management.

Regina has a Masters degree in Finance from Mary Mount University in Arlington, VA and several professional certifications.
